Seasonally Adjusted Figures

What is Seasonal Adjustment?

Seasonality refers to a monthly (or quarterly) pattern that occurs in roughly the same manner from one year to the next, e.g., sales are highest in the spring and lowest in the winter each year.

*Preliminary seasonal adjustment undertaken by CREA. Removing normal seasonal variations allows for more meaningful analysis of monthly changes and underlying trends.

GTA REALTORS® RELEASE NOVEMBER STATS

TORONTO, ONTARIO, December 3, 2021 – Home sales reached a new record for the month of November and the average selling price also reached a new all-time high. New listings were down substantially compared to last year for all market segments – further highlighting the inherent supply issue across all home types in the Greater Toronto Area (GTA).

GTA REALTORS® reported 9,017 home sales through TRREB's MLS® System in November 2021 – 3.3 per cent above the November 2020 result, setting a new record. In contrast, new listings were down by 13.2 per cent year-over-year, with double-digit declines for low-rise home types, and condominium apartments.

"Governments at all levels must take coordinated action to increase supply in the immediate term to begin addressing the supply challenges of today, and to work towards satisfying growing demand in the future. The GTA remains the primary destination for new immigrants, and is at the centre of the Canadian economy. For far too long governments have focused on short term bandaid policies to artificially suppress demand. Current market activity highlights decisively that these policies do not work, and unless governments work together to cut red tape, streamline the approval processes, and incentivize mid-density housing ongoing housing affordability challenges will escalate. On this point, we commend the City of Toronto for moving forward with initiatives to facilitate the creation of more mid-density home types, including their current consultations on options to encourage more multiplex development across the city," said TRREB President Kevin Crigger.

The MLS® Home Price Index composite benchmark was up by 28.3 per cent year-over-year in November 2021. The average selling price for all home types combined was $1,163,323 – up by 21.7 per cent compared to November 2020.

"A key difference this year compared to last is how the condo segment continues to tighten and experience an acceleration in price growth, particularly in suburban areas. This speaks to the broadening of economic recovery, with first-time buyers moving back into the market in a big way this year. The condo and townhouse segments, with lower price points on average, will remain popular as population growth picks up over the next two years," said TRREB Chief Market Analyst Jason Mercer.

NOTES

- 1 - Sales, dollar volume, average sale prices and median sale prices are based on firm transactions entered into the TRREB MLS[®] system between the first and last day of the month/period being reported.
- 2 - New listings entered into the TRREB MLS[®] system between the first and last day of the month/period being reported.
- 3 - Active listings at the end of the last day of the month/period being reported.
- 4 - Ratio of the average selling price to the average listing price for firm transactions entered into the TRREB MLS[®] system between the first and last day of the month/period being reported.
- 5 - Average Listing Days on Market (Avg. LDOM) refers to the average number of days sold listings were on the market. Average Property Days on Market (Avg. PDOM) refers to the average number of days a property was on the market before selling irrespective of whether the property was listed more than once by the same combination of seller and brokerage during the original listing contract period.
- 6 - Active listings at the end of the last day of the month/period being reported.
- 7 - Past monthly and year-to-date figures are revised on a monthly basis.
- 8 - SNLR = Sales-to-New Listings Ratio. Calculated using a 12-month moving average (sales/new listings).
- 9 - Mos. Inv. = Months of Inventory. Calculated using a 12-month moving average (active listings/sales).
